LAMBDA XI SIGMA FRATERNITY TO JOIN TAU KAPPA EPSILON

National Organization Will Affiliate Local Group In Ceremony

INSTALLATION IS SOON

Local Body Will Become Thirty-third Chapter Of TKE

Lambda Xi Sigma fraternity, according to the announcement made yesterday by Thomas R. Crane, '31, president of the active chapter, will shortly affiliate itself with Tau Kappa Epsilon, national fraternity. The local fraternity will become the 33rd chapter of the national organization and is scheduled to be installed during the month of November .

Lambda Xi Sigma was established at Hamilton in 1923 as a local fraternity by five undergraduates. Since that period the group has grown until the chapter is now composed of 18 men. Petition for a charter in Tau Kappa Epsilon was made last year and accepted on August 4 of this year.

To Cancel House Party

Plans for the installation which are now being formulated, call for a three-day ceremony the week-end prior to Thanksgiving. Preparations are being made for an informal smoker at the Lambda Xi Sigma house November 20, a formal dance November 21 with the installation proper and banquet November 22. Because of the nature of these festivities, the fraternity will not hold a House Party with the other crowds on October 11.

This will mark the second time in recent years that a local fraternity has affiliated with a national group. The last instance occurred when Beta Kappa was installed in the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity eight years ago. This move on the part of Lambda Xi Sigma will leave only two local groups on the Hill, the Emerson Literary Society and Chi Beta Sigma fraternity .

Will Be 33rd Chapter

The new chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon will be known as the Alpha Iota chapter. This fraternity was formed at Illinois Wesleyan University in 1899. In September, 1902, the first fraternity house was established at Illinois Wesleyan

Tennis Star Enrolls

RICHARD T. MURPHY

TENNIS STAR ENROLLED HERE

One of Country's Younger Stars Now Enrolled at Hamilton

Transferring from Harvard, where he was a freshman last year, Richard T. Murphy of Utica, formerly national junior indoor tennis champion, has become a member of the class of 1933 at Hamilton.

Murphy comes to Hamilton rated as one of the outstanding of the younger tennis stars of the United States. He advanced to the third round in the national singles tournament, and has shown to advantage in various other tournaments in which the tennis elite participated.

Murphy has held the national junior indoor title and has been junior champion of New York State three times. This year he reached the finals in the state men's tournament at the Sedgewick Farms Club in Syracuse only to lose to Frank X. Shields, Jr., of New York, in four hotly contested sets. Shields later was a finalist in the national men's singles.

Murphy has ranged tenth among the national junior players. This year he was runner-up in the national men's indoor doubles, pairing with Harris Coggleshell, a player of national ranking.

William T. Tilden, 3rd, famous American champion and internationalist, ranks Murphy as one of the comers in the younger group of stars which includes Shields, Sidney B. Wood, Ellsworth Vines, Wilbur Coen, Barry Wood and others. Among these, Murphy defeated Vines and Coen this year. He also downed J. Gilbert Hall of Orange, N. J., one of the nationally ranking stars.

WOOD TAKEN BY DEATH IN 66TH YEAR

Stricken With Heart Failure August 22 at Home of Son

ON FACULTY 28 YEARS

Resigned Chair of Political Science in June Owing to Ill Health

Dr. Frank Hoyt Wood, former Professor of History and head of the Political Science Department of Hamilton College, was suddenly stricken with heart failure during the night of August 22, at the home of his son Richard Carver Wood, at Babylon, Long Island. Although Dr. Wood had been in failing health for the past few years, his condition had improved to such an extent following Commencement, that his death was most unexpected.

Dr. Wood was born October 28, 1864, on a small farm near Westbury in the western part of New York State. Although his educational opportunities were insufficient to satisfy his eager desire for learning, he took advantage of them all and entered Cazenovia Seminary. Graduated from there in 1887, he applied for admission to Syracuse University and at the end of a four year course received his A. B. degree. While at college, he was made a member of Phi Beta Kappa and of the Psi Upsilon fraternity. Leaving Syracuse, he took a post graduate course at Harvard for which he received another A. B. degree in 1892.

His first work upon leaving College was with the Y. M. C. A., which took him to India. There he made his headquarters in Calcutta and Madras. Returning shortly to this country, he was engaged as teacher of Mathematics and Latin in an academy connected with Northwestern University. From 1894 to 1898, he was Instructor in History in the academy of Worcester, Mass. The next two years were spent in studying History and International Law at the University of Leipsig which conferred upon him, in 1900, the degree of Ph. D.

Returning once more to the United States, Dr. Wood acted in the capacity of joint principal of the Allan School at West Newton, Mass., and the following year taught at the McKenzie school in Dobbs Ferry.

In the fall of the year 1902, he came to Hamilton where he spent the remaining twenty-eight years of his life. From 1902 to 1915 he occupied the Publius V. Rodgers Chair of American History and

BUFF AND BLUE TEAM HOLDS ALFRED SCORELESS IN OPENER

"H" Club Will Hold First Meeting Monday

The Hamilton Varsity "H" Club will hold its first meeting of the year Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the Delta Kappa Epsilon House. LaRue G. Morris, '31, president of the organization, urges a large attendance on the part of the members of the body so that initial plans for the year can be formulated.

The "H" Club was organized last year for the purpose of fostering more intimate relations between the Hill varsities and the members of the visiting teams.

GRIDMEN FACE CLARKSON NEXT

Hill Team Invades Potsdam Saturday on Season's First Trip

Making its first trip of the season, the Buff and Blue football team will journey to Potsdam Saturday to face Clarkson. It will be the third game for the Engineers, who have not as yet been able to score.

Coach Winters expects to make little change in the line-up of the Hamilton squad, and except where injuries make substitutions necessary the men who opened the season against Alfred will probably start at Potsdam.

Several regulars are on the injured list as a result of the Alfred game. Morris, who was injured early in the first quarter, will not be available for duty Saturday, and Conger, with several torn muscles in his shoulder, may also be missing from the line-up.

The forward line, which was unable to stop the Alfred backs Saturday, is in the midst of a week of intensive training for the second game. Coach Winters hopes to build up a stronger defensive combination around the center position. The passing attack, which Alfred was frequently able to break up, is also receiving a large share of attention.

Several men who substituted in Saturday's game will again see service against Clarkson. Bellatty, Ollikainen and Fay, all playing their first year of varsity football, will be given a chance to perform against the Engineers.

The Clarkson eleven, which went down to a 27-0 defeat before Alfred in its first game of the season, will probably depend on its aerial attack and end-run plays to gain against the Buff and Blue. The teams are about evenly matched in weight.

Scrappy Hill Eleven Shows Promise In First Game of Season

HILLTEAM OUTWEIGHED

Invaders Hold Edge In First Downs as Contest Ends In Tie

Far surpassing the hopes of even its most loyal supporters, the Buff and Blue football team held the Alfred University eleven to a scoreless tie in the opening game of the 1930 season on the Hill Saturday.

The visitors averaged three pounds heavier on the line and nine pounds heavier in the backfield; and by virtue of their 27-0 victory over Clarkson last week were considered the favorites over the home team.

Teams Evenly Matched

The teams were evenly matched, although Alfred held a slight edge in first downs, accounting for 11 to Hamilton's nine. Both elevens had two opportunities to score, but failed to put the ball across.

In the second quarter Alfred completed a long pass to within two yards of the goal, but a penalty carried the ball back to midfield. The visitors immediately made up the lost ground by a determined march down the field, but with the ball on the eight-yard line Hamilton gave a brilliant display of defensive work to hold for downs and prevented a score.

Buff and Blue Fails to Score

In the third quarter Hamilton carried the ball to within striking distance of the goal, only to have the visitors recover a fumble on the five-yard line and kick out of danger.

In the closing minutes [illegible] final period a series of first [illegible] carried the Buff and Blue [illegible] six-yard line, but Rie [illegible] thrown for a disastrous [illegible] the next play Alfred broke up the Continentals' final desperate bid for a touchdown, intercepting a pass and advancing the ball toward mid-field with a last-minute aerial attack.

PENTAGON FETED BY COACH PRETTYMAN

Members of Senior Honorary Society Guests at Picnic Dinner

Pentagon, senior honorary society, was the guest of Coach Albert I. Prettyman at a picnic dinner Sunday, September 21. Wallace B. Johnson, '15, and Richard S. Fowler, '23, former members of Pentagon, were present, in addition to the five active members, Meagher, Crowley, Normile, Morris and Wilson.

This gathering inaugurated the activities of the senior society for the year 1930-31. Pentagon operates for the welfare of the college, and Coach Prettyman, himself a former member, started the machinery which will carry the society toward its goal. Regular weekly meetings are being held in the Kirkland Cottage on Monday evenings.

BONHAM BACK FROM YEAR'S STUDY ABROAD

History Professor Suffers Attack Of Laryngitis On Arrival

Professor Milledge Bonham, Professor of History, who was absent last year on a Sabbatical, arrived home September 22. Professor Bonham, with his son, spent the year in research and travel in many of the countries of Europe.

Upon his return, however, Professor Bonham was confined to his bed under the orders of his physician with a severe case of laryngitis, but he has recovered and taken over his classes, which have been conducted during his illness by Professor Graves.

SEVEN COMPETE FOR EDITORSHIP

Junior Members of Life Staff Begin Editorial Competition

Competition for juniors for the positions of editor-in-chief and managing editor of Hamilton Life began last week. Seven members of the class of 1932 are competing, all of whom worked on the Life reportorial staff last year.

The competition will be carried on into the next semester with the men being gradually trained so that each may edit one or more issues independently in the spring. Those competing are Clifford A. Lewis, Edward V. Gross, Benjamin J. Stone, William A. Monacelli, William R. Broughton, Jack W. Hummer and William Sloane.

Competition for the reportorial staff of Life will be announced shortly.

Recently Discovered Book of Old Faculty Minutes Describes Customs of Early Years

Recently there was found the yellow-leafed history of a time so far back that there are few people living who can recall it.

The book in which were kept the minutes of the faculty meetings in 1859, and for many years thereafter, has lain in the dust-covered bottom of an old box. Now it is the most vivid record that we possess of that period in the history of Hamilton College.

Six Men On Faculty

The faculty in 1859 numbered only six men. They were: Oren Root, the father of Elihu Root; Avery, Curtis, Dwight, Upson and North, commonly known as "Old Greek." President Fisher was then in office.

At every meeting there was the "calling of classes." Beginning with the names of the seniors, the names of all undergraduates were read aloud, with pauses made for questions and comment on each man. A student was to be given a warning; he had "used College wood without permission." A freshman was "to be excused from evening prayers on Tuesday evenings in order that he might attend the singing-school at Deansville."

Absence From Chapel Big Offense

Being absent from morning Chapel may mean only another cut to us now, but in those days even being tardy was a matter that called for drastic action on the part of the authorities. At one meeting President Fisher was directed to have a very serious talk with some unfortunate lad who had been too slow in getting around to the Chapel one cold Winter's morning. And the service in those days was held before daybreak!

In the sixties there were two seminaries for young ladies in the village of Clinton. One evening in September, 1861, a group of about nine freshmen decided that they would-a-serenading go. They went to these schools and sang lustily, to the apparent pleasure of the girls, but to the very evident disapproval of those in charge. The guilty ones were summoned before the President and were sternly reprimanded for their "hilarity." They were then told that they must sign a confession and apology or be put out of college. The decree was inexorable. It was not taken into consideration that there was a possibility that some could prove themselves innocent, so nine freshmen signed their names to the following letter:

"To Miss Pankhurst, Principal of the Liberal Institute Female Seminary and Dr. Gallop, Principal of Houghton Seminary:

"The undersigned wish to express to you and through you to the young ladies under your charge our sorrow for the annoying disturbances to which you were subjected Tuesday evening. We were induced to engage in it, without reflecting that we were trespassing upon your rights, and dishonoring ourselves and the institution with which we recently became connected. We now regard our conduct as wholly wrong and entirely unbecoming our character as gentlemen and members of Hamilton College.

"We trust you will accept this

DATE ARRANGED FOR FALL PARTY

Various Fraternities Agree Upon Week-End of October Eleventh

According to an announcement issued by the Interfraternity Council several days ago, the week-end of October 11 has been selected as the date for Fall House Party.

With home football games on October 11, November 1 and November 8, the Council was unable to decide which date would be most acceptable to the college and the matter was put to a vote of the several fraternities.

October 11 was favored not only because of the likelihood of more pleasant weather but also because the soccer squad is the only team scheduled away from the Hill on that date. Rochester will provide the opposition for the football squad, and St. Stephens will line up against the Buff and Blue cross-country team.

The selection of a date so early in the Fall leaves less than two weeks for the completion of final plans for the party. Was Los and D. T. are rushing work on the tea dances which will follow the football game Saturday afternoon. No announcement has yet been made of the houses in which these dances will be held.

Senior Who Spent Junior Year in Foreign Study Cites Advantages of Delaware Plan

"The opportunity of a year's study abroad is one which no undergraduate should fail to take advantage of," declared Arthur S. Bates, '31, when interviewed by a Life reporter. Mr. Bates returned to the Hill this Fall after a year spent in France with the University of Delaware Foreign Extension Group.

The Seventh Annual Group, of which Mr. Bates was a member, numbering 67 men and women from 41 colleges and universities, set sail from New York July 19 aboard the Coronia. After arriving in Havre on the 27th, the group proceeded to Paris for a short stay before going to Nancy where the first three months of the course were spent at the University of Nancy.

University in Single Building

"Nancy," said Mr. Bates, is very old-fashioned, with narrow cobbled streets, despite its considerable size. The university, like many other of the smaller French universities, is housed in a single building containing equipment that would cause our American students to laugh outright."

Here special introductory courses were taken by the American students in preparation for entering the Sorbonne in the Fall. At Nancy, as in Paris, the students lived in private French homes and thus had the opportunity of gaining a real insight into French family life. French was required to be spoken at all times under penalty of fines for failing to comply with this rule.

Courses at the Sorbonne

After spending some three months at the University of Nancy, vthe group returned to Paris to attend the special courses in civilization given at the Sorbonne. These courses are designed almost exclusively for foreigners, being attended by students from all over Europe as well as by the Americans.

"The civilization courses are entirely lecture courses," Mr. Bates said. "No attendance is ever taken, and there are no papers or quizzes given except the final examination. The final examination in June is both written and oral. Three general topics are submitted from which the student may choose any one. He writes on this at length for three hours, thus displaying his general knowledge of the course. In addition to this, each student has a 10-minute oral examination with his professor in which he is asked questions of a very specific nature. This is the most dreaded part of the entire examination. In the French professional schools the examinations are extremely stiff and it is not uncommon to have half the class fail in them.

French Universities Different

"The Sorbonne and most other French universities are very different from those in this country. They have no campuses but are

FRANK HOYT WOOD

Few men in the role of teacher have so closely allied themselves with the life of a college as did Dr. Frank Hoyt Wood during his many years here at Hamilton. "Baldy," as all Hamilton men affectionately came to know him, was one of the sweetest and gentlest of men, and in everyone that came upon his charm he had a friend.

In his classroom the cold austerity of the impersonal professor was completely absent. There was no barrier between himself and his students, no strained or formidable atmosphere. And yet this intimacy with his students did not affect the standards of his teaching. A thorough student of political science and a master of current affairs, he contrived to present to his men a rounded and intelligent conception of government and its practical applications. The effect of his grasp of current events and his skill in interpreting them has made itself felt in the lives of all the men that have come under him, and their interest in political problems partially represents the result of his many years of work on the Hill.

But quite aside from the academic results of his teaching, the influence of his character was even more effective. Always kindly and sympathetic toward the student, he made very intimate the relation between the teacher and the undergraduate. This warmth and friendliness endeared all types to him and made him one of the most beloved men. This rich human relation was one of his great joys in life, and in his retirement last June he may well have looked upon his friendships as the reward and solace for a quarter-century of devoted service to Hamilton.

The freshmen coming on this year will not be fortunate enough to experience the spell of one of the richest personalities whose days were ever bound up with Hamilton, but to those of us who knew him and sat under him there will always be the memory of his sweet smile and kindliness. He seems to have been one in that rare company with the Lossiemouth dominie of whom J. Ramsay MacDonald so tenderly writes, "What was his genius? Nothing recondite; nothing requiring unravelment by analytical minds. The simple kindness of the teacher is perhaps the most precious gift he can give his scholars. By that, he gathers them to his knee, as it were, and puts his arm around them, and they never forget."

Hamilton men can never forget "Baldy" Wood.

AMONG THE FALL FASHIONS

If, with this issue, you fail to recognize in Life your old friend of former days, it is only proof that time works changes, even in a college newspaper. Life is, at heart, the same old acquaintance with whom you have chatted in the past. The fact that it has grown a little bigger and now wears a new make-up does not alter its essential nature. We only hope that should you, like Charles Lamb, be averse to change, the new appearance of Life will not affect your friendship.

The various changes in mechanics and paper have been made with the idea of giving to the college a greater service. The use of newsprint instead of book paper we feel to be a distinct approach toward a more typical newspaper. The addition of four new columns and the slight alteration in their width will permit of a more complete presentation of life at Hamilton and among her alumni than has ever before been possible. Although the alterations will increase the cost of production, we feel that adequate coverage of Hamilton news calls for the additional expenditure.

It is our hope that in attempting to present for the alumni of the college a picture of what their fellow classmates are doing in the world of affairs we can rely upon them to assist us both by sending in items of interest about Hamilton men and by subscribing to the paper.

In the absence of a strong central alumni association, Life is really the only means by which the vast army of Hamilton men can keep in weekly touch not only with the college but also with the activities of the graduates in their various professions. In providing this liaison between alumni and the college, we feel that Life is performing a real service. It is to this end that we ask your co-operation and support.

FORGET IT — FRESHMEN!

In past years it has been the custom to insert in this column a miscellaneous jumble of words addressed, "To the Freshmen," or something similar, the purport of which is usually unintelligible to the new men and bunk to those who have been in college for a year or so. We regret that we have no pearls of wisdom to drop before you, the members of the youngest class on the Hill, and offer in their stead our sympathy.

Cognizant as we are of the perils of generalization, we nevertheless feel safe in saying that freshmen may be divided into two groups. The two groups consist of those men who amounted to something at prep or high school, and those who did nothing to distinguish themselves in any way, be it scholarship or extra-curricular activities, while attending secondary school. It is quite possible, if not probable, that members of the first group have come to Hamilton with a bit of what is commonly called conceit, and it is not outside the realm of possibility that many of those composing the second group possess an inferiority complex. To both of these groups, as well as to those men who defy our arbitrary classification, we venture the suggestion that they—"forget it."

Forget both the successes and the failures of the past. You are in an entirely new environment; the slate has been wiped clean. What you will amount to at college will result directly from your own efforts; Hamilton has no use either for the man who rests on previously acquired laurels or for the man who fatalistically accepts what he considers the inevitable and ceases to try. No matter what your particular ability may be, Hamilton offers you the chance to develop it. The burden of proof rests upon you. We wish you luck, welcome you to Hamilton, and suggest that you—"forget it."

HILL TEAM TO DEBATE SCOTS HERE

Hamiltonians Chosen To Meet Representatives of Scottish Universities

COUNCIL PICKS TOPIC

The Scottish Universities Debating Team, consisting of representatives from Glasgow and St. Andrew's University, will oppose the Hamilton College team here on October 23 in an international debate.

"Resolved: That mechanical and scientific progress do not necessarily represent advance in civilization" is the question which was selected fro ma series of five propositions submitted by the Scots. This decision was reached at a meeting of the recently revived Debate Council held Monday evening at Emerson Hall.

Hamilton's speakers, who will defend the negative of this question, are Jefferson Meagher and Willis Rayton, both of '31. The Scottish Universities Debating Team is composed of Norman Wilson from St. Andrew's University and John MacCormick from Glasgow University. President Frederick C. Ferry will preside over the debate, which will be held in the Chapel.

MacCormick, who earned his M. A. and LL. B. at Glasgow, has carved for himself a prominent place in Scottish public life. After entering politics, he cut himself adrift from the Labor Party, founded the Glasgow University Nationalist Association, and nominated a candidate who came within 66 votes of defeating Stanley Baldwin, then Prime Minister of Great Britain. In this campaign he earned the affectionate title of "King John," by which he is known today throughout Scotland.

Wilson, the other Scottish representative, during his academic career, was an advocate of the opinion that every student ought to take a part in the public life of the university, and he practised what he preacheed. He is an outstanding member of the Students' Representative Council and of the Management Committee of the Men Students' Union, is a leader in university politics and debating, and will return after this tour to become president of the University Literary Society, the premier student society of St. Andrews.

BUFF AND BLUE TEAM HOLDS ALFRED TO TIE

season for hte Buff and Blue and the first quarter settled down to an exchange of punts. Hamilton threatened once with three successive first downs, but the visitors intercepted a pass to break up the attack in the closing minutes of play. Morris was lost to the team early in the game when a leg injury forced his removal soon after the opening of the quarter.

The visiting eleven held a slight edge in the second period, twice missing an excellent opportunity to score. In the last few minutes of the half Alfred smashed through the line for a first down less than ten yards from the goal. But the Continentals braced, and using an eight-man line on the defense, warded off the visitors' last serious threat.

The third quarter was featured not only by Hamilton's unsuccessful bid for a touch down, but by a beautifully placed punt by Kingsley which bounced out on Alfred's two-yard line.

In the final period, as the game threatened to close without a score Kingsley revived a spark of hope by intercepting an Alfred pass, and on the next play snared a Hamilton pass to advance the ball to the 12-yard line. Bellatty made up half the distance to the goal with a six-yard gain, but Rienzo was thrown back to the 14-yard marker, and Alfred intercepted a pass to recover the ball.

CROWDS PLEDGE ONE HUNDRED MEN

Rushing Carried on Under New Rules of Interfraternity Council

Results of the rushing season indicate that 100 men have been pledged by the 11 fraternities on the Hill, according to latest reports. This year was the first in which the four new rushing rules, formulated by a committee of the Interfraternity Council and assented to by all the crowds on the Hill, were tried out.

The four new rules were formally adopted and added to the existing eight on May 29, when the members of the new and old Interfraternity Councils and the chairmen of the pledging committees of the various crowds signed the rushing rules. The new rules stated: (1) From the Sunday before college opened to the Sunday after, all pledging should be done on the Hill; (2) No unpledged freshman should be allowed to stay in a house later than the Friday evening after college opened (3) the rushing rules were to be signed by the representatives of the various fraternities; and (4) a copy of the rushing rules should be sent to every incoming freshman.

The deferred rushing system still remains a moot question in the conferences of the Interfraternity Council. In the meantime the efficacy of the new rulings remains to be determined.

Taking Electrical Convenience From Ol' Man River

THE total capacity of waterwheel generators built by General Electric in the last ten years is more than enough to supply light and power for twenty cities of one million population.

Installed in power houses along the waterways, these machines transform the strength of mighty rivers into useful electric energy for homes, for industry, and for transportation.

The vision and skill of college-trained men are largely responsible for the continuing leadership of General Electric in its service of furnishing machines and devices that provide the swift, sure convenience and the economy of electricity — on land and sea and in the air.

FACULTY PAYS TRIBUTE TO WOOD

Ferry Honors Former Head of Political Science Department

On August 22, death came to Dr. Frank H. Wood and brought an end to one of the most gracious and unassuming characters that ever spent such an extended period in the pursuit of true scholastic endeavor. During the 28 years that Dr. Wood was associated with the undergraduates of Hamilton College as head of the Department of Political Science, his inherent ability to recognize the human element in any situation has more than indelibly stamped his memory on the minds of those who came in contact with his charming and sympathetic personality.

President Frederick C. Ferry, at the first meeting of the faculty this year, expressed the sympathy of that body in these words: "The Faculty, at this first meeting of the new year, enters upon its records this expression of sorrow at the death on August 22 of Professor Frank H. Wood, who, at our last previous meeting, concluded his active connection with the college. Dr. Wood had been, to some of us, a colleague for 28 years; to others he was first an honored teacher, then a colleague; to all he was a trusted friend. We recall in him the union of rare qualities of head and heart; a sympathy for youth and an unwavering faith in the potentialities of boyhood and young manhood; a deep interest in the modern world and its problems, and a clear grasp of the fundamental principles of life. His first-hand acquaintance with other lands and alien civilizations not only broadened his vision but enriched the daily classroom intercourse with his students. From the very beginning of his service here he entered into helpful personal relations with the undergraduates, and for many years was closely identified with the management of the extra-curricular activities. All but a decade of his work as a teacher was done in this college, where he formed lasting friendships with a large body of our alumni. It is with sincere sorrow that we make this record of the death of a colleague of many years, whose memory we hold in esteem and affectionate regard."

By nature, Dr. Wood was most quiet and unassuming. His genuine interest in people however, made hundreds of them his friends and gave him an extraordinary influence.

New Musical Organization Practices Under Direction of Redmond

Under the direction of Richard C. Redmond, '33, the newly organized Hamilton College Band is rapidly shaping into form and expects to make its first public appearance at the Rochester game on House Party week-end.

Some 20 men have become associated with the musical organization and have held rehearsals several times each week since the opening of College. Redmond has been assisted in his work by Professor Berrian R. Shute, who has supervised the development of the group.

SIX NEW MEN ARE NAMED TO FACULTY

Appointments Announced by President Ferry In Report to Alumni

ONE PROMOTION MADE

Assistant Professor Smith Advanced to Associate Professor

Six new appointments to the Faculty and one promotion were announced by President Frederick C. Ferry in his report to the alumni for the year 1929-30. These appointments are: George L. Nesbitt, Associate Professor of English; Amos N. Wilder, Associate Professor of Ethics and Christian Evidences; George H. Perrine, Assistant Professor of Roman Languages; Jean Wunderlich, Instructor in German; Donald J. Van Keuren, Instructor in Physics; and Lester Davis. Instructor in Latin and Greek.

Assistant Professor Francis W. Smith was made Associate Professor, and, in addition to his duties in the English department, he will be in charge of the Press Board. This is in accordance with the policy of the college to associate an officer of the college with the direction of this work. Professor Smith will supervise the preperation and sending out of all material for publication in the newspapers.

Professor Nesbitt, '24, valedictorian of his class, was Instructor in English Composition on the Hill for two year after he was graduated. The following year he did graduate work at Columbia University, during the absence on leave of the regular head. Last year he completed the residence requirements for his Ph. D. degree at Columbia.

Professor Wilder started his college course at the University of Toulouse, and after two years at Oberlin, where he was a noted tennis player, received his A. B. at Yale in 1920, and his B. D. in 1924. He has done much other graduate work at Brussels, Oxford, and Yale, where he has nearly completed the requirements for doctor's degree. Professor Wilder is a World War veteran, serving from 1916 to 1919. He taught French for one year at Yale, was pastor of the Congregational Church in North Conway, N. H., for three years, and is the author of two volumes of poetry.

Professor Perrine, '25, was graduated Phi Beta Kappa. In 1928 he gained an M. A. at the University of Illinois, where he has completed the residential requirements for the doctor's degree. Mr. Wunderlich is a native of Frankfort, Germany, where he was graduated from the Holmholz Oberrealschule. In 1926 he come to this country, and received his A. B. from the University of Utah in 1928. He is a candidate for the M. A. degree at the University of Chicago.

Mr. Van Keuren is a 1930 B. S. from Union, where he was elected to Sigma Xi, national honorary scientific society. Mr. Davis was graduated from California in 1926, receiving his M. A. there last June.

Hill Students Desert Books for Taxi Stand

Despite the business depression a new enterprise has sprung up on the Hill, known as the Buff and Blue Taxi Company, owned and operated exclusively by two seniors.

When the venture will definitely start is not yet certain, but a radical reduction of rates from those set by the village taxis is planned, with a special combination ticket. The promoters are considering the use of a new Ford sedan. William C. Morris, '31, and Willis M. Rayton, '31, are the optimists.

PROFESSOR WOOD DIES FROM HEART FAILURE

then was transfered to the Sherman Memorial Chair of Political Science, which he temporarily resigned a year ago because of ill health.

Dr. Wood's work was always of the highest calibre. His natural ability as an instructor was more than supplemented by his many actual contacts with the outside world. In the summer of 1896, he studied History in Italy, Switzerland and France, continuing his work in the Levant of two summers previous, when he spent most of his time in Turkey, Egypt and Greece.

Year of Study Abroad

Always a persistent and thorough student of current events, he took a year's leave of absence in 1907 in order to come closer to the actual sources of information in China, Japan, Egypt and Spain.

Dr. Wood was intensely interested in politics and although originally a Republican, he joined the Progressive party in 1912 and later identified himself as an Independent. In 1913 he was nominated by the Progressive party for member of Assembly of the Second Oneida District. He was a member of the American Society of International Law, the American Political Science Association, the American Historical Association and of the Harvard Club of New York City.

Honored By Undergraduates

Due to Dr. Wood's courteous and kindly nature, and his interest in everybody and everything, he was one of the most popular professors on the Hill. As a token of friendship and respect, he was elected president of the Association of Undergraduate Activities and continued in that position for many years.

Last June, Dr. Wood formally served his connection with the college. His important service on the Faculty was made the subject of several tributes by members of the Board of Trustees and by President Ferry. At that time a fund was started to establish an annual prize to bear his name.

Funeral Held On Hill

The funeral was held on Sunday, August 24, at the Psi Upsilon house. The service was in charge of the Rev. George Shephard, a classmate of Dr. Wood's at both Cazenovia Seminary and Syracuse University. Dr. Wood's body was carried to its final resting place in the college cemetery by Perry A. Miller, '06, Paul B. Williams, '08, Robert D. Frazer, '08, Wallace B. Johnson, '15, Thomas B. Rudd, '21, and D. Douglas Hayes, '25.

Advantage of Numbers Enables Freshmen to Pull Rivals Through Fountain

Successfully defending the banner in the flag rush, the sophomores carried off the honors in the major event of the annual sophomore-freshman row which inaugurated the opening of the fall semester two weeks ago.

The sophomores also defeated the first year men in the relay, but the freshmen evened the count by winning both the wrestling match and the tug-of-war.

By withstanding the onslaught of the new men in the flag rush, the sophomores attoned for their own defeat at the hands of the present junior class last year, the first time in a number of years that the entering class had failed to capture the flag.

As the penalty for their defeat the freshmen are not permitted to wear knickers until Spring Vacation, while the successful sophomores have the privilege of wearing green, the freshman class color.

The first-year men were more successful in the wrestling matches winning two of the three bouts. The sophomores gained their only victory in the 130-pound class, Olszewski, taking the measure of Zabriskie. Calkins, '34, defeated Qualey, '33, in the 135-pound class; and Scobie, '34, was the victor over Orcutt, '33, in the heavyweight division.

The sophomore combination of Toaz, Bellatty, Pierson, and Ruland, all experienced track men, was too much for the freshmen runners in the relay event, which was run off on the cinder track instead of one the main quadrangle as in former years.

Numerical preponderance was the deciding factor in the tug-of-war, the final event of the day, and the freshmen had no difficulty pulling their rivals through the fountain.

The push ball contest, held for the first time last year, was omitted from the program, and only four events were run off. A large gathering from Utica and from the vicinity of the college was on hand to witness the activities.

housed in what closely resemble office buildings. With this system prevailing, there is naturally no campus life to speak of. There are no dormitories, but those students who do not live at home live in boarding houses or with private families. There are no college sports.

During the Easter vacation, the Americans enjoyed a two weeks' trip through Spain, Italy, and Southern France.

Following the examinations in June about half of the group sailed for home while the rest remained behind to spend the summer touring Europe.

Most Chapters In West

Primary inspection of the local fraternity before the granting of the charter was made by George Nobbe, professor at Columbia University. Secondary inspection was made by T. R. Iserman of Chicago and final inspection by Edward Masten of the Sigma Chapter at Cornell. During the period in which the charter was under consideration, Harold P. Flint, executive secretary of Tau Kappa Epsilon visited the Hill several times.

Among the chapters of Tau Kappa Epsilon in the East are those at Rutgers, Gettysburg Colleg, Cornell, Pennsylvania State College, University of West Virginia, Ohio State University and Ohio University. The remainder of the undergraduate chapters are in the West or Middle West.

On the occasion of the installation representatives of the various crowds on the Hill and members of the faculty will be invited to attend the ceremony. The petition for the charter was a very elaborate 34-page booklet giving the history of Lambda Xi Sigma and the College illustrated with views of the campus.

OLD FACULTY MINUTES REVEAL EARLY DAYS

acknowledgment in proof of our purpose to avoid everything of the kind in future, as some reparation for the wrong which we have committed.

"September 27, 1861."

The recalcitrant ones were the more quickly induced to sign when they were informed that if they refused, their names would be sent to their home parish churches!

It is in cases such as these that we can read the lives and thought of the generations that are gone.

Documents such as this book of minutes are of the highest value, for it is chiefly in reading what a man says of his contemporaries that we can form an opinion of his generation.
